Starting in July

Doctor signs with Lions Clinic

A new doctor will be joining the staff of the Minden Lions Medical Clinic.

Spokesman Daryl Moore announced February 19 that Dr. Judith Smith has signed a contract and will begin practising in July.

Dr. Smith, who is currently completing her medical degree at McMaster University in Hamilton, worked as a Registered Nurse for 17 years before returning to university to obtain her medical degree. She expects to graduate with the spring convocation and will immediately begin her practice in Minden.

According to Moore, the doctor has signed a three year contract with the clinic.

Dr. Smith visited the community late last year after responding to advertisements placed by the Community Committee for Physicians (CCFP). After touring the hospital, the clinic and the community she advised that she wished to join the staff and returned briefly to the village last week to sign the contract.

While the Community Committee has hosted a number of visiting doctors over the past six months, Smith is the first to have signed a contract. Her addition to the Minden medical roster will help ease the shortage in doctors that the community has experienced since last summer. It is also hoped that her willingness to sign will lead to other doctors joining the staff.

The announcement was welcomed by Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Jeanne Anthon and CCFP chairman Jack Brezina. Both the council and the committee, in cooperation with the clinic, have been working hard to encourage doctors to practise in Minden.

Emergency feeding under way

The Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association (HHOA), in co-operation with the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters (OFAH) and the Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR), is co-ordinating the emergency feeding program for white-tailed deer herds in Haliburton County. The heavy snowfalls and extremely cold temperatures that have been experienced over the past few months have depleted the natural fat stocks the animals build up leading into winter, creating a necessity for the implementation of an emergency feeding plan. The photo above was taken near one of the HHOA feeding stations. For more on what is being done to help the deer herd in Haliburton County, see page 19.

Fire departments to train for ice/water rescues

by Andrew Milne

Haliburton county fire departments may be trained and equipped for full immersion ice and water rescues as early as next winter.

Ontario's Fire Marshall's Office (FMO) says it expects to be able to provide a 'Train the Trainer' program to interested departments this spring. That greatly reduces the cost to departments interested in doing the rescues.

Stanhope fire chief Bob Polard confirmed last week that he expects to be writing the costs of the training and equipment into his upcoming department budget. "Whether or not council will accept it I don't know."

Minden chief Bill Hogg confirms that Minden also expects to be taking the program and equipping for the rescues. Anson, Hindon and Minden council, he says, has been quite supportive of the initiative.

Currently, Haliburton county departments are not equipped, insured or trained for rescues that involve going beyond shore. That means anyone who gets in trouble more than about 75 feet off shore is out of reach. No other rescue services capable of responding to such calls exist in Haliburton county, a situation not uncommon in rural areas.

Rural fire departments often wind up doing the rescues because of their relatively fast response time, but Haliburton county departments had been forbidden from attempting any ice or water rescues from 1992 — when the county passed a resolution that municipal councils forbid them from doing so — until last year, when they started doing the shore-based rescues again.

It's a long story how that happened. The resolution was passed in the wake of a 1990 incident in Port Carling in which a firefighter drowned, and the department was sued by the Ministry of Labour for violations of Occupational Health and Safety Standards. The case was dismissed, but not before a lot of jurisdictions were convinced that getting involved in the rescues was beyond their means.

The politics were complicated as well — the MOL's position wasn't that departments should be involved in the rescues, but that they should be properly trained, equipped and insured for them. However, some councils took the position that this was a case of downloading, and that departments shouldn't be involved in the rescues in the first place.

In de facto terms, however, that left much of the area entirely without services to deal with such emergencies.

Hours may still be reduced

Hospital grant cuts modest

by Andrew Milne

Provincial grants to Minden and Haliburton hospitals will be cut by $69,000 for the coming year.

The cut, which represents about 2.5 percent of the total Ministry of Health (MOH) grant, is on the low end of what the local board had been led to expect from the government.

Haliburton Highlands Health Board (HHHB) finance committee chair Hugh Nichol said Saturday that though the relatively shallow cut was a relief, "It's still a cut."

The board had been told to expect cuts between 2.5 percent and eight percent of the grant.

The news does not necessarily mean any change in operating hours at Minden hospital or at Haliburton hospital in the coming year, but it may. The Times was told Saturday some board members are still considering the possibility of reducing Minden's hours to eight hours, while others are arguing that they should be increased beyond the current twelve per day.

The board has recently completed a role study which concluded 24 hour operation at both Minden and Haliburton sites is not supported by patient traffic. Executive director Foster Loucks said at the time he expected the board would continue to operate Minden hospital at reduced hours for the foreseeable future.

The board had met Friday evening to discuss measures to reduce a projected operating deficit, but was unable to come

Some clients going out of county

Mental health services settling down

by Andrew Milne

In the wake of a falling out at a local service provider, many clients of the mental health care system are going out of the county for professional help.

However, full-time professional counselling services are available again locally, and an initiative to establish a new service geared to mental health system clients is making progress.

Len Foster, one of a group of clients who split away from the Haliburton-based counselling centre, and a member of the District Health Council (DHC) mental health advisory committee, says that support among the group is now administered on a very informal basis, and that many are now going to mental health institutions in Toronto, Kingston, and Whitby, for professional support.

Others, he says, are turning to private professional counsellors.

The group is not doing formal group therapy sessions, he says, because it is not practical.

Says Foster, "We are trying to support one another over the phone, or we get together and have coffee, but as a really formal group we have no one to lead it, as a therapist. In the past, some of the individuals would come to group and really get into some heavy stuff, and I think it's a little beyond our scope to deal with anything like that, but we try and support where and when we can."

The Haliburton County

Counselling Centre (HCCC), which the clients used for services prior to the rift, has hired two counsellors again to replace those let go last fall. However, not all of the former clients seem interested in returning, says Foster.

The HCCC is a general-purpose counselling centre, which also handles family counselling.

Another service, more specifically geared to the needs of mental health patients, is also in the works. Funded by a Ministry of Health (MOH) initiative known as the Community Investment Fund (CIF), the program is still looking for a sponsoring agency.

Foster, who is involved in that initiative, reports that four potential agencies were contacted last week, but that no response has yet been received.

The split between the clients and the HCCC was a complicated business, and involved the CIF program. Some of the clients and volunteers of the HCCC are involved in drafting the proposal to set up the CIF group in Haliburton. As of last summer, the plan had been to have the HCCC's sponsoring agency SIRCH (Supportive Initiatives for Residents of the County of Haliburton) become the sponsoring agency for the CIF project as well.

SIRCH is an umbrella corporation based in Haliburton which sponsors a range of social service agencies.

However, the clients and volunteers involved — notably client June Partridge and volunteer Bess Cox — became frustrated with SIRCH's approach to the project.

Among other grievances, Cox and Partridge say requests for information on the HCCC's budget met lengthy delays, and that they felt SIRCH's approach did not properly respect the principle established for the CIF projects that clients be involved in planning.

Shortly following this, the HCCC's two counsellors were fired. Clients split off from the centre, complaining that no warning was given; that proper closure could not be achieved under such circumstances, and that the part-time workers brought in to replace the counsellors were not adequate, leaving a dangerous gap in services.

The reason for the firings is not known. SIRCH has taken the position that the move was a personnel matter, and not for public disclosure.

Neither the DHC nor the MOH has said they have concerns with SIRCH's actions.

However, says MOH representative Rob Moore, they are concerned that services be provided, and if the clients will not deal with SIRCH, they're going to have to come up with some alternatives.

The DHC, therefore, has given the go-ahead to the group to look for other sponsoring agencies for the CIF funding.

Last week the group contacted Kinark, the Haliburton County Information Centre, the Acting Health Services Board, and the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Foster says they are also entirely open to other suggestions.

Says Foster, "Those are just the ones we could think of... But we're open to whatever. It's just whoever meets our needs."

HCCC back online

The HCCC, in the meantime, is up and running again. It took on a new coordinator, José Urbano, in December of 1995, and two new counsellors at the beginning of this month, replacing those fired in the fall.

Urbano says he has seen some of the clients coming back, but he doesn't know how many were among those who had left.

Urbano, who has worked in mental health care for around 30 years now, says he views the situation as a bit of a challenge, and that he hopes restructuring the service will make the Centre more responsive to its client population.

Says Urbano, "We've contacted all the former clients, to let them know we're here... The main thing is making sure the service is there for the people who need it."

School board amalgamationVictoria-Haliburton merger recommended

by Andrew Milne

A provincial task force has recommended that the Haliburton school board be amalgamated with Victoria's.

The recommendation amends an earlier proposal that Haliburton, Victoria, Peterborough, and Northumberland-Clarington be amalgamated.

The provincial Ministry of Education and Training (MOET), which would oversee any such changes, has not yet responded to the report.

Board of education chair Wendy Ladurantaye said she expects the board "will keep an open mind" about the recommendation.

The board has not yet discussed a formal position on the document.

Said Ladurantaye, "Since we haven't met, I can't give you the board position, but I would imagine we will be taking the same stand as we did with the earlier proposal, and that is that we will look at it with an open mind, and get some data on how it would impact us locally. And provided that there would be no added costs, and that it is educationally sound, and that we would get proper representation from our area, then I would think the board would look at it."

"But, as before, if it ends up to something that is not in the best interests of our area locally, it will not be looked on so favourably."

The task force on school board amalgamation was commissioned by former (NDP) Minister of Education David Cooke in February 24, 1995, shortly prior to the provincial election in which his government was unseated by Michael Harris' Tories.

Cooke gave the task force its mandate of reducing the number of school boards by between 40 and 50 percent.

The Haliburton board criticized an earlier proposal from the task force — the amalgamation with Victoria, Peterborough, and Northumberland-Clarington — for greatly reducing public representation, and for the lack of clear data showing cost savings.

That proposal would have created a board with 57,000 students, 130 schools, and the largest geographic area of any board in southern Ontario. It would have been administered by nine trustees.

The newest proposal — the Victoria-Haliburton amalgamation, would create a board of 13,600 students in 30 schools. It might be administered by from seven to 11 trustees.

The Haliburton board administers 2,300 students in eight schools, governed by 15 trustees, with an annual budget of $17 million.

Victoria's board currently administers 11,300 students in 22 schools, on a budget of $72 million.

Ladurantaye says that, though the Haliburton area will probably have more trustees and better representation than it would have under the previous proposal, representation is still an issue in an amalgamation with Victoria alone.

"I don't know how it's going to impact on us — how much of a balanced voice you'd have for

Speaking up for young women's health

by Andrew Milne

Three Haliburton Highlands Secondary School (HHSS) students have been chosen by the Heart and Stroke Foundation to spearhead a health program aimed at adolescent women.

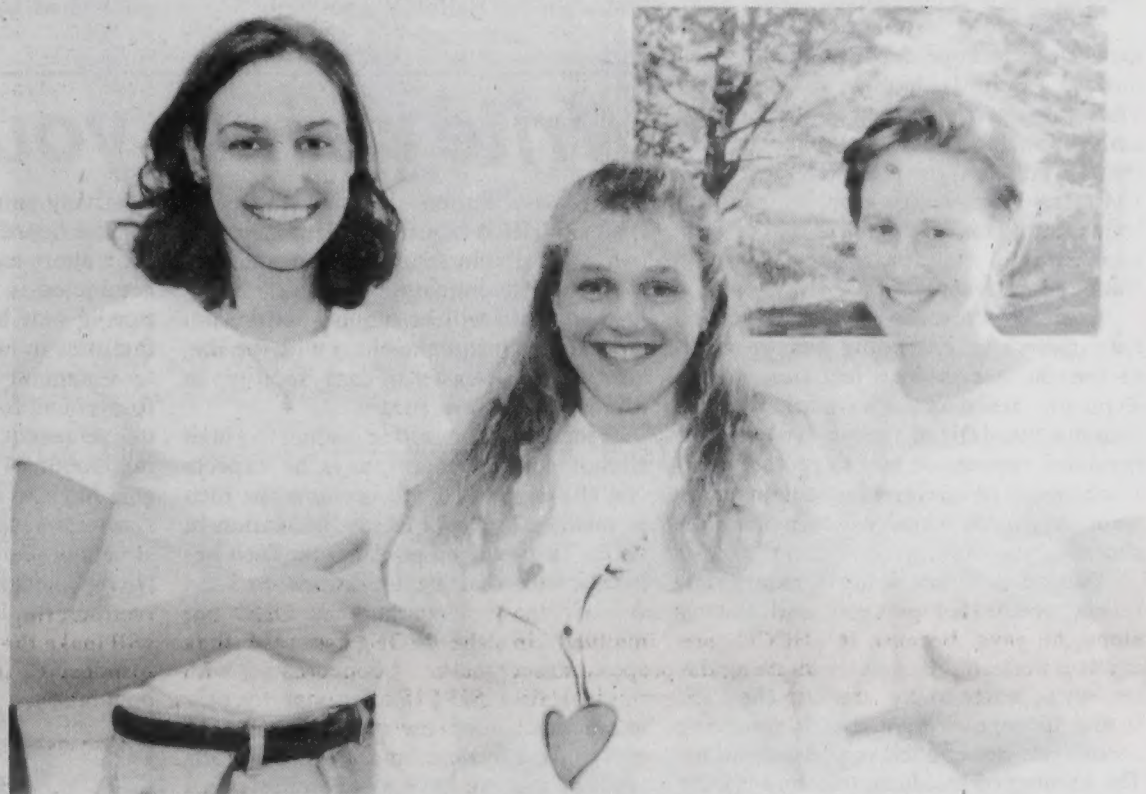

The three help coordinate workshops dealing with health and health-related problems in schools around the province.

They've also been working on similar problems at their own school.

Stacey Bunn, Tiffany Orpana, and Anna Tomlinson, all senior students at HHSS, say the program's strength is in its 'peer to peer' approach, and its emphasis on the sharing of common problems and solutions, as opposed to more authoritarian approaches.

Says Tomlinson, "Instead of going there and saying this is what you do, ordering them to do things or telling them how to do it, it was more like sharing the different problems, and discussing what's the best way to go about addressing this problem... When a parent tells a kid to do something, they tend to do everything but, right?"

The program aims at women's health and women who smoke in particular partly because so many younger women smoke, and partly, say the three, because women seem to smoke for different reasons than men.

Says Tomlinson, "If you sit down to talk about smoking, you're going to talk about everything but smoking."

Says Bunn, "So we also work on self esteem, and body image and different things like that... And nutrition in the school. When they go back some of the plans they might have as a school might be simply a bulletin board about healthy eating."

The range of problems the groups deal with are diverse, and though it's quite a mix, they say little of it really surprises them. The problems they encounter are common from school to school, and to their own.

Says Orpana, "They bring in all their school problems, and we give them a formula, so they can apply it to their problems. We help them set goals. And then they make action plans — how they're going to go back and address this problem. These are problems like teen pregnancy, violence in the schools, smoking, drugs."

It's been interesting work. Bunn says they've learned a lot just listening to the different approaches different schools have to their problems.

There was some turmoil. The 1994 Stanhope elections were fought largely on the issue, with Jock Mavor challenging then incumbent reeve Fred Gardner. Mavor took the position that if elected, he would support the department in any bids to train and equip for the rescues. Gardner was less committal.

Mavor won the election, and since then, the Stanhope department has been moving towards doing the rescues. They're currently trained, equipped, and authorized to do shore-based rescues. At the same time, at the provincial level, the FMO has been working on its train the trainer program, and reports that it's almost ready to train for the more complex 'immersion' rescues.

Immersion rescues enable rescuers to enter the water, extending their reach to victims farther than 75 feet from shore. Typically, rescuers use a flotation device (often a specialized rescue raft) and an insulated immersion suit to protect them when they enter freezing temperature waters, and are roped off to a team on shore.

Pollard says he is quite happy that things are moving along as well as they are.

Said Pollard, "Hopefully by next winter, we're ready to go... I never expected it to happen overnight, but it's moving ahead, and our council is still behind us. The number of incidents this winter have kind of stressed the need."

Hogg's Minden department also does the level one rescues, and plans on training for the offshore work.

"It's going to be part of the job, now," says Hogg, "and it is something that is needed."

Hospitals

to any decisions. They will be meeting in closed session again Thursday in an attempt to come to a decision.

Nichol said Saturday it is too early to say what, precisely, the financial position of the board will be in light of the news.

The news from the MOH regarding the cuts arrived late Friday, just prior to the board's meeting. The MOH told the board, says Nichol, that cuts will vary from 2.5 percent to 7 percent across the province, but that for hospitals with 50 beds or fewer, the cut will be capped at 2.5 percent. That applies to both Minden and Haliburton hospitals.

The projected annual deficit for both hospitals, prior to last week's news, was $300,000 on a total revenue budget of $2.9 million. That projection, says Nichol, is extremely rough, and no longer accurate — based as it was on a grant reduction of around 7 percent, operation of Minden hospital 24 hours per day, and the assumption that the board would receive another supplementary grant of $150,000.

Nichol has also said the projected deficit was aggravated by the cost of restructuring, and later years shouldn't be nearly so difficult.

The board is a local body struck to take over health care responsibilities — particularly hospitals — from other agencies. The board intends to be formally incorporated and in operational control of the two hospitals by April, 1996.

The two hospitals are currently administered by St. Joseph's of Peterborough.

Minden hospital currently operates 12 hours per day, emergency ward service only. The in-patient ward has been closed since April of 1995, and the emergency ward has been reduced in operating hours since October 1995. St. Joseph's made both moves due to the lack of local doctors to staff the wards. Doctors staffing the 12 hour emergency ward are brought in from outside the community, but the cost of doing so, says St. Joseph's, restricts the number of hours the hospital can afford to be open.

Most of the hospital's nursing and support staff were laid off in concert with the hours reduction in October.

Residents of the hospital's catchment area, including, in particular, northern portions of Victoria and Peterborough counties, have protested that the hours reduction leaves them badly underserved.

Write us into your will: health board

The Haliburton Highlands Health Board (HHHB) is making plans to establish a charitable foundation to assist in long-term fundraising.

The board will be running Haliburton and Minden hospitals, along with the Highland Crest long-term care facility in Minden in the near future.

Finance committee chair Hugh Nichol, an accountant, says he expects one strategy will be to promote the idea of making bequests to the foundation in wills. Tax laws, he says, favour such bequests with healthy deductions, and the area's large senior population might see the idea as a sensible way to use the service now and pay for it later.

Says Nichol, "I think it's pretty safe to say that seniors are probably the main users of the system, and it's to their advantage that we have good facilities... I think they might find the idea attractive."

Nichol says that since all property is taxed on the final return after death anyway, making a bequest, earning the deduction, and sending some of that money specifically to the local health care system has potential for a convenient, and relatively painless way of contributing.

The board is also hiring a coordinator for a short-term fundraising effort, to be conducted in concert with the construction of new hospital and long term care facilities in Minden and Haliburton.

Financial concerns are coming to the foreground for the board. The new facilities represent $5 million in capital spending, about $4 million of which the board will have to raise through debenture or similar means.

Fundraising for capital projects, says Nichol, generally is most effective once building has begun. However, the Ministry of Health (MOH) will not permit the board to break ground until they have secured all of the financing. They are therefore looking for flexible financing options that will permit them to borrow the money for the project, then use any fundraising they can do to pay it down at the outset, if so desired.

One deal that would permit that — a private/public financing deal in which private lenders use the depreciation of the buildings to shelter their own income, allowing them to offer lower interest rates — is currently being considered by the board, but is far from final.

Hodgson speaks at builders meeting

Major changes coming for MNR

According to Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson, there are some major changes ahead for the Ministry of Natural Resources.

The local MPP was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Haliburton County Home Builders' Association last week in Minden at the Village Chalet Restaurant. The MPP, who is also the Minister of Natural Resources, answered questions covering a variety of subjects.

He said the ministry will be concentrating on fish and wildlife, while utilizing new technology to assist in other areas of its responsibility.

Hodgson told the builders that the new government will set tough standards, for the forestry industry for example, and then expect those working in the industry to meet those standards. Enforcement will be done through spot checks.

He said that the ministry's structure will go through a major change in early April, making it "a leaner ministry." He said the changes are in response to his party's promise to reduce the size of government and the tax burden.

He also said government is examining the possibility of releasing more Crown Land for development. He noted this would do little to eliminate the provincial debt, but would be a great stimulus for local economies such as that represented by the members of the builders' association.

Health Care

Touching on another local issue, the MPP said he is pleased with the efforts of the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Board to fast-track the improvements to health care facilities in the area. He noted that Hyland Crest home for seniors is badly in need of an upgrading. He said the relocation of the Minden Hospital services to a site adjacent to the home would benefit both facilities. "We must amalgamate services," he told the meeting, to help reduce costs and improve the quality of services.

The MPP noted that the amalgamation of the Haliburton Hospital with the newly planned 30 bed LTC facility will also help to improve services at that location.

"The government wants to make rural hospitals the focus of health care in small communities," he said.

Cutting red tape

Hodgson said the government has ordered an examination of every regulation under its control. He said if the regulation is found to be of little value it will be eliminated. "We want to reduce red tape," he said, so people like those in the construction industry can get on with the task of building a healthy economy, creating jobs and prosperity.

In this regard he said builders can expect a faster response to requests for changes to the Planning Act and any changes to the Building Code will not result in additional costs. He said the government will set tough standards and expect those businesses operating within an industry to meet them.

In other construction related news, he told the association members to expect the elimination of the Employer Health Tax for small businesses in the province, as well as changes to the Workers' Compensation program which will reduce the cost of its operations and a reduction of the unfunded liability currently being carried by the board.

He told the meeting that the province is exploring the possibility of harmonizing the provincial sales tax with the federal GST.

However, initial discussions with the federal government have indicated by following the GST tax regime, goods and services currently exempt from PST in Ontario would become taxable. Hodgson said his government would, for that reason, oppose the measure. Hodgson estimated the increase in taxation for Ontario residents would be about $2 billion, an amount his party found unacceptable. He noted that portions of the building industry in particular could be adversely affected by such a move.

One of the potential benefits of the harmonization would be the elimination of duplicate paperwork involving filing two separate tax remittances.

Debt reduction

Hodgson spoke at length about the detrimental impact of the provincial debt on the economy. He noted that the province is currently carrying $100 billion debt and that such a situation is not sustainable. A debt of this size costs the Ontario taxpayers $9 billion a year in interest payment, 40 percent of which is paid to institutions outside of the province.

He noted, in the past, growth in the economy has helped to reduce the impact of the debt through the generation of additional tax revenue, however, economic growth in the last ten years has not matched the growth in government spending, resulting in the need for the drastic measures which the government has introduced.

Raising taxes was not an option in any attempt to reduce the deficit, Hodgson told the group. "The province is already one of the highest taxed jurisdictions in North America." As a result there is a thriving underground economy, which, coupled with high taxes, serves as a deterrent to investment. "We want to create a climate for job creation," he told the audience.

Hodgson was thanked by association president Gary Burch, who presented Hodgson with a Haliburton Men's Hockey League baseball cap. The MPP is an avid hockey player and makes an effort to be back in Haliburton each week for a league game.

HCDC wants public input re: operational plan

If you want to have a say in how the Haliburton County Development Corporation (HCDC) formulates its operational plan for 1996-97, your opportunity is coming up. The Community Economic Development Committee of the HCDC will be holding four public meetings early in March to gather public input.

Manager of the Community Economic Development section of the HCDC, Bryan Brown, says everybody is welcome. "Individual residents, business people, members of organizations... we want as much input as we can get," he said.

Brown has already made presentations to local councils several businesses and groups -- a total of about 90 people since mid-October. With the exception of the councils, the others have approached him.

"We have had some very interesting input," Brown said. "Most of it has been practical, achievable, and, when carried out, very beneficial to this county. It's interesting how many people see what needs to be done."

The Corporation hopes to have its plan drawn up by mid-April, for submission to the government by May.

The meetings will be held at the following locations:

■ Haliburton Execuplex Board Room, Tuesday, March 12, 7 p.m.

Brown says the meetings will begin with some background of what has been done and the projects that have been worked on over the past year, followed by an outline of the current plan.

For those who are unable to attend one of the meetings, but wish to have some input, Brown suggests that they write their thoughts down and either mail them to him at Box 210, Haliburton, Ontario, K0M 1S0 or fax them to his office at 705-457-3398. He stressed that he wants as much input as possible to make sure the plan reflects the requirements and wishes of the county's residents and business people.

Local government restructuring

In-depth study and public consultations promised

An analysis of the restructuring meeting held in Haliburton February 13 was on the agenda of Haliburton County Council at last week's meeting. Bob Maddocks of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs presented a summary of the modifications to the evaluation criteria which were suggested at the meeting, most of which were cosmetic. The suggestions clarified the wording of the documentation and rearranged a couple of points.

Mention was made of the objections raised, through letters to the editor of the local newspapers, regarding the restructured local government taking responsibility for the School Board.

Warden Murray Fearrey said that the reason for considering the School Board along with political restructuring was to give the local governing body, and taxpayers more control over the school system in the county. He suggested that if the Haliburton board is amalgamated with one or more others, the people of Haliburton could be forced to accept the wishes of the representatives from larger centres to the south.

"I thought it would be an opportunity to have our (local) input," he said. "If we're really going to get our taxes under control, it should be under one roof. There was no intent to tread in someone else's territory."

Councillor Ross Rabjohn concurred. "It's an option that should be looked at," he said.

"We need to have control of the tax base," Councillor Jim McMahon added.

Councillor Jeanne Anthon suggested that "reasonable dialogue with the School Board is needed."

One of the suggestions generated at the February 13 meeting was to define what is meant by "minimize municipal job loss" as one of the criteria.

Anthon summed it up when she said, "Job loss should not be a first priority to reduce costs."

Option Two (a single tier government for the whole county) and Option Three (an amalgamation of the 10 municipalities into four or five larger municipal jurisdictions and keeping the county government) are both very much in the running at this point.

Maddocks said that of the six groups at the meeting, three seemed to favour Option One and three favoured Option Two. He added that none of the groups indicated they actually liked Option Two, while almost everybody had something good to say about Option Three.

As Rabjohn pointed out, the decision can't be made until both options are investigated thoroughly.

Maddocks also showed a map of Haliburton County which was divided into five sections. The map struck a nerve with a few councillors, until it was explained that the boundaries were only to be used as a starting point.

Councillor Bill Davis said that if Option Three is chosen, the wards should be of equal size in terms of population, whenever possible.

On the question of whether or not to invite municipalities from outside Haliburton County to join a restructured local government, Councillor Doug Holman suggested that "We get our own house in order before we worry about including other townships from outside Haliburton County."

It was decided that Options Two and Three be studied in-depth, with the option of including at a later date.

Municipal office staff members will meet to study the options and offer input.

Maddocks pointed out that the public is "very sensitive about consultation" and he advised council to give some thought to how consultations with the public should be carried out.

The next restructuring meeting is expected to be a marathon event, possibly scheduled over two consecutive days. No date was formally set.

200 anglers expected for Red Umbrella Trout Derby

More than 200 anglers are expected to compete for as much as $10,000 in cash and prizes at this Saturday's Red Umbrella In Ice Fishing Derby.

Registration for the event has been slow, but steady, but Don Hodgins, who owns the Inn, along with wife Lynne, expects a lot of last-minute entrants.

"We've had a lot of phone calls this week," Hodgins said Friday night, adding that he expects the numbers to increase right up to the deadline of 8 a.m. the day of the derby.

Hodgins said that he has no concerns about the ice thickness.

"There's 16 to 18 inches of ice, out where the huts are," he said.

He is hoping that colder temperatures will move in so there isn't as much slush and water on the ice for the derby.

With the implementation of the new ice fishing regulations, Hodgins said there had been some concerns expressed about the slot size. He emphasized the fact that the derby will adhere strictly to the fishing regulations and fish within the slot limit are ineligible.

"Everyone plays by the same rules," he said, "so it's fair for everybody."

The fishing will be from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Entry fee for the derby is $50 per person. Tickets are available from The Red Umbrella, Scheffee's Live Bait, Minden Live Bait and Tackle and General Lee's in Haliburton.

For more information, contact Don Hodgins at 489-2462.

Notes from AH&M CouncilBobcaygeon Road business owners don't appreciate snowmobilers on sidewalk

by Jerry Grozelle

Owners of three businesses on Bobcaygeon Road have expressed concern about snowmobiles using the sidewalk in front of their businesses.

Snowmobiles routinely cruise past within inches of the front doors of Gina's Shear Talent, The Storehouse and The Times, creating a hazard for people entering and exiting these businesses.

"People walk out the door to be met by a set of skis," said Public Works Superintendent Clayton Cameron.

A by-law prohibiting snowmobiles on the municipality's sidewalks exists, but catching the offenders in the act is easier said than done.

Councillor Sinc Nesbitt insists the problem is the responsibility of By-Law Enforcement Officer Doug Schell, but Reeve Jeanne Anthon pointed out he can't be expected to constantly patrol the area in an attempt to catch the offenders. She suggested Schell be advised of the problem and asked to monitor the situation.

As a temporary measure, Cameron suggested putting up a piece of plywood from a hydro pole to the corner of the Gina's Shear Talent building to prevent snowmobiles from using the sidewalk immediately adjacent to the building front.

A sign noting that snowmobiles are not allowed on the sidewalk has already been posted.

A more permanent form of barricade may be installed once the frost is out of the ground. Cameron said that four posts would be required to prevent snowmobiles from using the sidewalk. He noted that the posts closest to the road would have to be removable to provide access for the annual sled dog derby. He also pointed out that if posts are installed, the municipality wouldn't be able to use a grader to clean snow off the sidewalk as has been the case in the past.

Katimavik helpers coming

Four or five members of the Katimavik group will be coming to Minden in March. While they are here, they will be helping to establish a ski/hiking trail at Minden Park. Katimavik personnel will be applying chips to the walkway once it has been brushed out by municipal staff.

Cameron pointed out that the chips will have to be an average of about a foot thick, so it will take some time to complete the project. A few owners of ATVs, including Councillor Grant Plooard, have volunteered to supply their ATVs to transport the chips to the trail site.

Cameron explained that the Katimavik members will be in Minden for about two weeks and barring severely inclement weather, they should have time to complete their task.

Parks Superintendent Ivan Ingram will supervise the work.

Cameron has already ordered two loads of chips and he says more will be ordered as needed.

Arena Manager appointed

Ray Miscio has been officially appointed manager of the Minden Recreation Centre. The appointment was in the form of a by-law, which was passed by council at its regular meeting Thursday evening.

Council members congratulated Miscio, who was in attendance for the occasion. Anthon expressed the municipality's confidence in his ability to manage the facility.

Soap Box Derby

The Soap Box Derby, being organized by the Minden Lions Club for Canada Day, will be held on Prince Street.

Some concern was expressed about the location, but council agreed to allow Prince Street to be closed between Highway 35 and Chandos Street for the event.

No "moving experience"

The old Gelert Store is not destined for a "moving experience." The store had been offered to the County Town Museum in Minden, provided the museum pick up the tab for moving the building to the museum site.

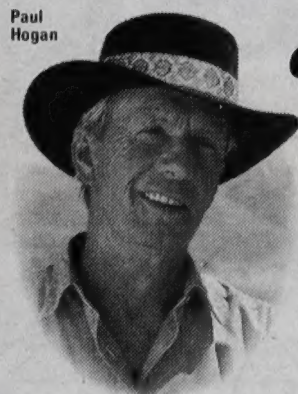

The offer had to be declined because the cost of moving the structure would have been $20,000. In addition, the floor of the building was in need of extensive repairs before it could be moved, substantially increasing the cost of a move from Gelert to Minden.

Searching for sensible solutions

Something must be done to accommodate the operation of snowmobiles in the Village of Minden.

This winter, an excellent one for the operation of the machines, has attracted a large number of snowmobilers to our community. There should be no doubt that their presence and the economic benefits they bring to the community are most welcome. However, when snowmobiles mix with pedestrians and vehicular traffic, as they do through most of our downtown area, the result is not pleasant for anyone.

There is likely not a merchant on the community's Main Street who doesn't have a story or two to tell about snowmobiles being driven irresponsibly and at high speed on the sidewalk in front of his or her place of business. Likewise, the sole crossing over the Gull River, the Main Street bridge, is a potential accident point as drivers attempt to steer their snowmobiles around cars and trucks. More often than not, the bridge and the intersections on either side are cleared of snow, further reducing the ability to safely manoeuvre the snowmobiles.

The easiest solution would be to ban the machines outright, but that would be short-sighted and unproductive. Snowmobiles are an integral part of the winter scene in the Highlands. We should be making every effort to welcome those who ride them into our communities. But we should also be making it safe and easy for snowmobilers to thread their way through the community with limited potential for unsafe situations such as the bridge intersections or where the sidewalk appears to be the only option open to the sledder.

Several years ago, the municipality and the HCSA explored the possibility of installing a temporary Bailey bridge across the Gull River specifically for snowmobile use. We're not too sure why the plan was dropped, but it is an idea which we think deserves further study. Obviously, the season is rapidly fading, but now, while the issue is still fresh in the community's mind, would be a good time to dust off that plan and any others and look again at how this community could be made snowmobile friendly for all concerned.

Congratulations to Women on Snow!

Editor:

I would like to offer my congratulations to the organizers of our most recent Women on Snow.

I feel the amazing amount of money, $23,000, these women raised through their pledges, in these economically difficult times, for Easter seals, is a true feather in their caps. I know the Easter Seal Society, Easter Seal project and our Easter Seal kids are certainly grateful for this tremendous support.

We can all hope that some of the Women on Snow participants who were recently in our beautiful Haliburton Highlands, will return to visit us again.

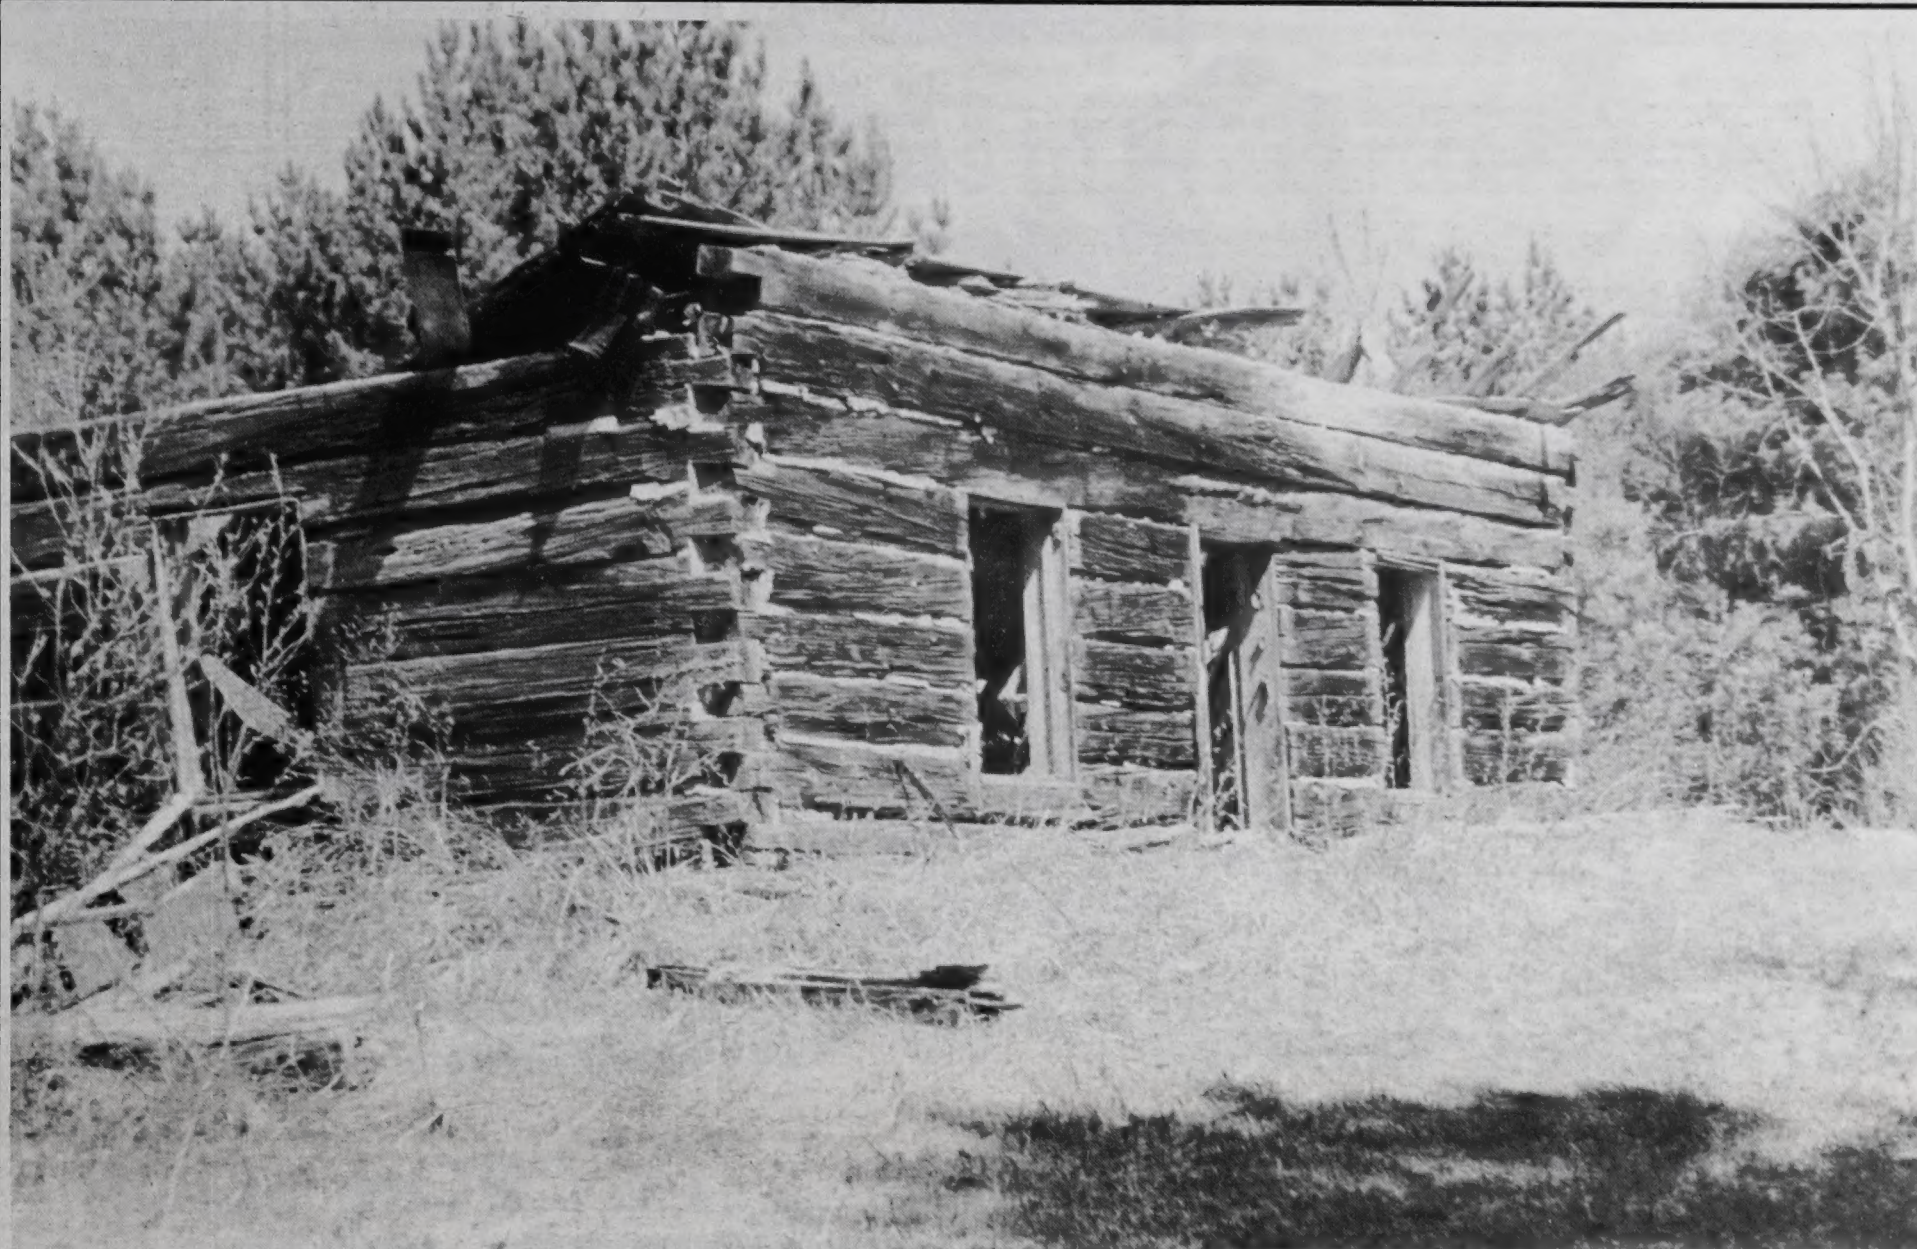

Once again, congratulations to Marj Kennedy and her entire team, of hard workers for a great Women on Snow weekend.

A reflection of the past

Picking the right title

I'm thinking of writing a book.

That's a tactic more potential scribblers should adopt book-writing-wise --they should think about it for a while. Say, five or ten years.

Think of the forests we'd save! Think of the vats of Murine we could divert to the Third World countries, if, say, just half the books that eventually wind up in the remainders bin never saw the light of day in the first place.

But book writers aren't like that. Hope springs eternal in the heart of the average hack. Take John Creasey. Now here was a guy who simply couldn't take a hint. Away back in 1918 he mailed his first literary effort --a mystery thriller called The Men Who Died Laughing-- off to the publishers. The publishers nearly died laughing. They sent the manuscript back almost immediately. "Hated it," the editors explained cordially in a note. "Please don't write again."

But Creasey did. Three months later he finished a novel about his school days which was also booted over the transom by every publisher he mailed it to. Undaunted, Creasey went on to pen Captain of the Fifth, The Mysterious Mr. Rocco, Mystery at Mamby House, The Flying Turk and Dazzle and the Red Bombers--all in less than two years.

And all turned down by publishers everywhere.

Incredibly, John Creasey never lost hope, he scribbled night and day, week in and week out for seven straight years, piling up a world record 743 rejection slips.

Finally in 1925, a publisher took pity on Creasey and published his latest effort.

Perhaps Creasey knew something 'the experts' didn't. He went on to author another 564 books and every one of them got published.

Indeed, a writer shouldn't lose a lot of sleep over a few rejection slips. Daniel Dafoe had his book turned down a half a dozen times before one publisher decided to take a chance on that wacky novel the world came to know as Robinson Crusoe. Vancouver Writer Lawrence Gough had his first book turned down by every publisher in North America. On an impulse, he bundled the bedraggled manuscript off to one of the

by Arthur Black biggest publishers in Britain. They not only bought it, they commissioned nine more books from him.

But then Gough has one indispensable talent-- he comes up with good titles.

Not every author does. I think the title an author chooses is almost as important as the manuscript he turns in. Listen to some of these titles culled from the Best Seller Lists a couple of weeks ago: The Lost World, The Hundred Secret Senses, The Piano Man's Daughter, Game Misconduct, Chretien: The Will to Win.

Every one of these titles is a bit of a tease. Each one makes me want to pull back the front cover and find out what's inside. But not every book title makes the grade. I know all about embarrassing book titles. I'm the guy who, several years ago, penned a modest little tome investigating the history of one of the great fur trading outposts in Canada--

Old Fort William, near Thunder Bay.

There were doubtless a lot of clever, dynamic, gripping titles I might have called my book, but I opted for the clean, spare, no-nonsense title of:

A History of Old Fort William.

I mean, who could screw that up?

Answer: the Master of Ceremonies at an Awards Banquet in Toronto who asked a roomful of people to please welcome, "Arthur Black, author of 'A History of Old Fat William'."

Titles. You want to be very careful picking your titles. We all know the British are animal lovers, but who would have foreseen the incredible demand for a tiny volume that was published last year. It was a paperback, quite thin and could appeal only to birdwatchers--and a select group of birdwatchers at that. And yet it has sold out four times over. Personally, I credit the success to the title of the bird book.

It's called: Great Tits In Britain.

Now that's what I call an inspired boob-oo.

Redmen bow to Griffins in Kawartha playoffs

by Jerry Grozelle

For a season-ending hockey game, the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen gave their fans an entertaining contest. Although the Redmen were edged 3-2 by the Thomas A. Stewart Griffins of Peterborough, the game could easily have gone the other way.

It was the second game of the best-of-three Kawartha High School Hockey League quarter-finals, with the Redmen down 1-0 in the series. The Redmen had home ice and they made the best of it for most of the game. Haliburton took a 1-0 lead with 3:30 left in the first period. Greg Luck outmuscled a Peterborough defender at the blueline and beat the TAS goalie to put the home team in front.

The second frame was less than a minute and a half old when the Griffins got back on even terms. Late in the period, TAS had a golden opportunity to jump in front. Josh Burk had 44 seconds left in a high sticking penalty when Matt Galbraith was called for the same infraction. That gave the Griffins a two-man advantage for 44 seconds.

Haliburton's penalty killers earned their keep, holding the Griffins at bay and weathering both penalties.

Later in the game, the Peterborough team showed its ability to fight off a two-man disadvantage for more than a minute and a half.

The third period started with the score tied at 1-1. But it didn't last for long. Fourteen seconds after the opening faceoff of the period, the Griffins took over the lead.

A little over three minutes later

UP CLOSE AND PERSONAL: Haliburton Redmen goaltender Brock Glendenning had to deal with some serious in-your-face challenges during Tuesday's Kawartha High School Hockey League playoff game against the Thomas A. Stewart Secondary School Griffins. Glendenning and his teammates put up a good fight, but the Griffins shaded the Redmen 3-2 to win the game and the series.

Dennis Woods blasted a shot past the Peterborough goalie to put Haliburton back on even terms.

After another eight minutes of end-to-end action, the Griffins broke the deadlock with 3:53 remaining.

The Redmen did everything possible to try to score the equalizer in the dying minutes, but the Griffins held on for the win.

The loss ended the season for the Redmen.

Eastern Ontario sectionals

Minden pair advances to all-Ontario

Several members of the Minden Skating Club placed well at the EOSIC (Eastern Ontario Section Interclub Competition) in Kingston February 16, 17 and 18.

In the junior bronze ladies class, Lindsay Harpley was fourth in flight 13; Laurie Turner was sixth in flight one; Kerri Matysek was sixth in flight 12; Krista Matysek was 11th in flight 14.

Tanya Peacock was ninth in flight six of the preliminary ladies division.

Louise Howell finished eighth in flight three of the junior silver ladies division.

Katrina Matysek was ninth in flight six of the senior bronze ladies class.

Kerri Matysek and Ian Christiansen placed second in the juvenile pairs competition. With the second place finish, they advance to the all-Ontario competition in Newmarket on March 16 and 17.

Fluke goal allows Falcons to tie bantam B Monarchs

by Roger Hutchinson

It was a reasonably well played game of hockey, with both sides maintaining good discipline, resulting in a low score of 2-2. Minden opened the score at 7:54 of the first period when Stephen Hutchinson took a blistering shot from the point. It bounced out to Mike Hamilton, who took a turn. But the puck was finally netted by Cameron Neville.

The game remained at 1-0 for the home team until the visitors took advantage of a minor penalty midway through the second period. Netminder Adam Payne had no chance on a screened shot by the Falcons' Mark Johnston, who gets credit for the tie.

The monarchs regained the lead early in the third period on another set-up by Hutchinson. Colin Mackenzie was the marksman and Hamilton got credit for another assist.

Although Minden took five minor penalties in the third period, they continued to hold the one-goal margin for most of the period.

However, just as Hamilton's tripping penalty expired, with 14 seconds remaining in the game, the Falcons scored the infamous tying fluke goal. The puck was in the Monarchs' end to the right of the goal and players from both teams were jostling each other to get control, when Neville shot the puck behind the net. The puck hit the stick of a Falcon who was standing to the left of the Minden goal, then took a crazy bounce, hitting the boards and ricocheted back out in front of the net, whereupon it hit defenceman Stephen Hutchinson on the back of the helmet and deflected into the net.

Needless to say, Payne had no chance on that one.

Most Monarchs were happy to tie the best team in the league, although some were disappointed at having to go away with the tie on such a fluke goal.

The last game of the "point round" series was February 24, when the Monarchs played host to the Ops Flames for their second meeting of the home and home series. Minden lost the first game of the two by a 3-2 score. That game was terminated because of a curfew with a couple of minutes remaining. Minden was not aware of the curfew in advance and was advised only two or three minutes before it was invoked.

In the only other meeting with Ops, Minden outscored the Flames 7-1.

Depending on the outcome of Saturday's game, as well as a couple of other games in the league, the Monarchs could finish in third place.

(Watch for the results of the second encounter with Ops in next week's paper.)

Minden Men's Hockey Association round robinHartwick, The Times lead the pack in playoffs

by Jerry Grozelle

The race for supremacy in the Minden Men's Hockey Association remains tight. Hartwick Construction and The Times currently share first place with four points each. Westside Jug City has three, while Home Hardware and Kountry Double D have two each. Sid Stamp Fuels trails the pack with one point in three games of round robin playoffs.

Hartwick 8, Westside 3

Hartwick Construction outgunned Westside Jug City 8-3 in last Monday's opening game of the Minden Men's Hockey Association three-game schedule to ensure at least a tie for first place in the playoff standings after three weeks.

Although Westside got off to a good start (scoring the first two markers of the game), by the end of the first half, Hartwick had rebounded for a 4-3 lead. The second period belonged exclusively (scoring-wise) to the Hartwick wrecking crew. Four unanswered goals were more than enough for the win.

Scott Nesbitt was the big gun for the winners with a hat trick and a pair of assists. Scott Hamilton added two goals and four helpers to the winning tally. Kevin Hamilton notched two goals and one assist, while Lawrence Loughheed netted one goal. Dean Sisson and Bill Hogg helped the cause with two assists each and, single helpers went to Dave Dollo and Dave Crego.

Doug Schell scored two of the three Westside markers and assisted on the other one, which was scored by Kent Taylor. John Stevenson picked up a pair of assists, while Tom Haley and Paul Walker had one apiece.

Times 9, KDD 2

Unlike the Sid Stamp crew a couple of weeks ago, The Times had no trouble getting two points from Kountry Double D. At the end of the first half, The Times led KDD by a 6-0 score. Easing up the pace in the second half, The Times outscored the opposition 3-2 for the 9-2 victory.

Craig Smith scored a hat trick for

The Times and helped set up two more. Jamie Dollo notched a pair of goals and four assists. Dave Ward also scored twice and added a single helper. Dave Hounsell and Jim Crawford were the other snipers, each with a single goal and one assist. John Ballantyne helped the winning cause with two assists and Jarrett Campbell pitched in with one helper.

Monty Miscio and Newfer Burke were the KDD marksmen, each with one goal. Glenn Hall assisted on both of the KDD goals.

Home 7, Stamp 3

Sid Stamp Fuels scored the first and last two goals of the evening's late game, but Home Hardware notched seven in between for a 7-3 margin of victory.

Ben Manuge led the Home Hardware attack with a hat trick and two helpers. Charlie Teljeur added two goals and one assist to the Home total, while Dave Hartwick and Gary Harrison had a goal and one assist each. Tom Miscio and Peter Allore collected two assists each and singles went to Clark Craig and Dwayne Warburton.

Ivan Ingram netted two of the Sid Stamp Fuels goals and the other went to Jeff Howe. John Teljeur picked up two assists, with one each going to Dennis McKee and Scott Bailey.

Bantam A Monarchs meet Ops in all-Ontario quarter-finals

Minden has one hope left for an OMHA championship. The bantam Monarchs are in the hunt for top provincial honours in their division.

The Monarchs were scheduled to meet Ops for the first game of their best-of-five all-Ontario quarter-finals yesterday (Sunday) at the Ops arena. At that time, a flip of a coin would determine which team has home ice advantage.

At press time the dates and times of the first two games were all that had been decided, pending the coin flip. Game two will be in Minden this Thursday, February 29 at 7 p.m.

Regular season action saw the bantam A Monarchs lose just one game. They had a bye in the first round of playoffs and then eliminated Woodville.

"We're looking for the guys to play with a lot of emotion and intensity," said coach Brian Shaw.

He added that Ops is a hard working team, but he's confident that if the Monarchs play "their game" they should be able to get past Ops.

Shaw said that most hockey teams have weak links that they must make up in other ways to compensate for the weakness.

"I don't believe we have any weak spots," he said.

One more positive note is the anticipated return of right winger Steve Ecclestone, who has been sidelined with a separated shoulder. Doctors have given him the green light to play Thursday night.

Shaw says it would depend on the outcome of yesterday's game in Ops, whether Ecclestone plays in game two or not. If the Monarchs won the first game, Ecclestone may be given until game three for an added margin of safety. He originally injured the shoulder at a tournament and then reinjured it by returning to the lineup before it had completely healed.

Shaw says that even though his team hasn't played since eliminating Woodville on February 20, they are ready for Ops. They have shown plenty of enthusiasm during practice sessions.

"Hopefully," the coach said, "we'll get a good crowd out for the game Thursday night."

An enthusiastic crowd of vocal supporters is always appreciated by the players.

"We're looking for the guys to play with a lot of emotion and intensity," — coach Brian Shaw.

Injuries hurt midget Monarchs in series with Manvers

by Jerry Grozelle

A strong Manvers team and some untimely injuries spelled the end of the season for the OMHA midget Monarchs hockey team.

A 13-day rest didn't help the Monarchs either. Their first game of the best-of-five on February 11 in Manvers saw the home team shade Minden 4-3.

The Monarchs started on the come-back trail in the third period of the game, but the attempt fell short.

Darren Mills, Dave Raback and Marty Dettman were the snipers for Minden. Dettman also helped set up the other two, while Raback and Ben Ripley picked up one assist each.

The Monarchs rebounded with a 4-3 win on home ice February 16. The first period ended in a 1-1 tie. Minden went ahead 3-2 by the end of the middle frame and each team scored once in the third. Mills was the top marksman for Minden with a hat trick. Ripley notched the fourth Minden goal. Tom Bagshaw helped set up three goals with Raback and Ripley adding two assists each.

The Monarchs lost the services of Jeff Wray in the second period of that game when he went into the boards heavily and injured his leg. He had to be helped from the ice.

The next day, the Manvers team was back in Minden for another game. Manvers came out on top by a 4-2 margin in that game.

The visitors built a 3-0 lead in the first period, a deficit the Monarchs were unable to overcome.

Mills netted both of the Minden replies. Raback helped set up both goals, with Sheamus Donnery and Bagshaw picking up one assist each.

The Monarchs lost team captain Chris Eskelin's services when he suffered a separated shoulder.

Up two games to one going into the fourth game of the series on home ice, Manvers managed to keep a jump ahead of the Monarchs to win the series with a 6-3 victory.

Manvers opened up a 2-0 first-period lead. Minden closed the gap to 2-1 early in the second, but Manvers added one more late in the middle frame for a 3-1 advantage going into the third.

Three more goals were added to the home side of the scoreboard before the Monarchs scored the last two of the game, one with 1:01 left and the other with six seconds showing on the clock. The two late goals showed that the Monarchs weren't about to give up until the final buzzer.

Rob Camelon, Dettman and Bagshaw were the sharpshooters for Minden with one each. Single assists went to Raback, Ripley, Tom Neville and Dettman.

That loss ended the Minden team's playoff season. An exhibition game against the Haliburton Huskies was scheduled for yesterday (Sunday).

ANOTHER SAVE: Minden midget goaltender Blair Johnson turns away a Manvers shot during the February 16 game in Minden. The Monarchs won this match, but came up short in the series.

Three regular season games to go for Tri-County peewee Monarchs

by Kim Emmerson

The peewee B hockey team traveled to Fenelon Falls on Thursday, February 15 to meet the very fast "Flyers". The previous matchup was not kind to Minden and the local boys were prepared for a tough game. At one point, the score was 4-3 for Fenelon but the score crept up to a final 7-3 victory for the Fenelon team. Goals for Minden were from Matt McCord, Brad Gauley and Dennis Arbour. Assists came from David Byrnes and Dennis Arbour.

The team also entered its first tournament in Woodville on Saturday the 17th. The first game was a convincing 5-2 win against Bobcaygeon. The second game was a loss to Stouffville which put the boys out of the "A" side final.

Future games are as follows:

Saturday, February 24 - Woodville at Minden at 2:30 p.m.

Saturday, March 2 - Minden at Beaverton at 3 p.m. * site change

Saturday, March 2 - Minden at Woodville at 7 p.m.

Orillia team wins Ridgewood 'Spiel

Minden Senior Curling Club hosted the Second Annual Ridgewood Ford Bonspiel Tuesday, February 20th. The 'spiel is a competitive league event for senior men. The two-draw competition began at 9 a.m., each draw being made up of two eight-end games. While this was a competitive event, there was much good natured fun evident as the men sat down together for lunch which was catered by the Club Ladies.

Clubs taking part were Port Hope (Dalewood), Fenelon Falls, Beaverton, Woodville, Lindsay, Orillia, Peterborough, Haliburton, Bobcaygeon, and Minden.

Representing the sponsor, Ridgewood Ford, was service manager Rob Roberts who presented the Ridgewood Trophy to the overall winning team from Orillia. This team was skipped by Blair Ashmore with vice Cam Maltby, second Doug Townes and lead Ken Acheson. It should be noted that Woodville was only one quarter point behind the winner. The first draw was one be Woodville, second Port Hope (Dalewood), third Orillia, fourth Peterborough.

The second draw was won by Orillia, second Beaverton, third Port Hope (Dalewood), fourth Haliburton.

At the end of the day, everyone agreed that the Second Annual Ridgewood Ford Bonspiel was only a 'stone's throw' away from being perfect.

Co-operative effort aimed at saving starving deer herds in Haliburton County

Members of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters (OFAH) are coming through for thousands of starving white-tailed deer across Ontario as OFAH DeerSave kicks into high gear.

OFAH Deer Save was established in December 1995 when it became obvious that early snow and record low temperatures could put Ontario's deer herd in jeopardy.

In the intervening months, hundreds of generous individuals and corporations have contributed $50,000 to the fund. Three-quarters of that money has come from OFAH members and clubs. Many OFAH members have volunteered to break trails, cut browse and deliver specially formulated emergency feed.

Now, whitetails face the hardest part of the winter in many deer yards in central and Northern Ontario. Their natural food still buried under feet of snow in some cases, their fat stocks depleted, the deer are in desperate need of emergency feeding. Funds marshalled under the OFAH DeerSave action plan are being delivered to areas hardest hit by the brutal winter of 1995-96.

The OFAH has provided 11 tons of emergency feed for three wintering yards near Minden. The OFAH-affiliated Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association (HHOA) has contributed $2,500, and the Ministry of Natural Resources will contribute $4,700 to help area deer through the crucial 60-day end-of-winter period.

This yearling fawn may make it through the winter thanks to the efforts of those who are providing emergency feed.

The partnership of OFAH DeerSave, the MNR and local sportsmen will also provide for desperate whitetails in the emergency areas of Bruce Peninsula, Kenora, North Bay/Loring and Saulte Ste. Marie.

OFAH DeerSave funds are directed where they are needed most. Only emergency areas, declared by MNR biologists, are eligible for funding. Neither the MNR nor the OFAH advocates feeding wild animals under any but the most severe of circumstances. Only corn/oats mixtures (less than 50 per cent corn) are suitable for emergency feeding.

Contributions to DeerSave — which will also fund emergency feeding efforts in future years when necessary — are still needed. For more information on how you can help, call the OFAH at 705-746-6324.

The HHOA is spearheading the local feeding program, kicking in $2,500 for about eight tonnes of feed, as well as providing hundreds of hours of volunteer labour to transport feed to deer yards in Monmouth Township, Anson Township, Drag Lake and Percy Lake. In total, about 25 tonnes of feed will be distributed to deer yards in Haliburton County. The MNR has purchased six tonnes of feed, as well, most of which will go to the Anson yard.

Locally, the HHOA is also accepting donations for feeding in Haliburton County deer yards. To contribute, contact HHOA President Ted Vasey at 286-1201 (home) or 457-1011 (office).

Ridgewood says goodbye to Mr. Hough, welcomes Mr. Squires

by Serena Crego and Katie Woodward

A community tea was held at Ridgewood Public School in Coboconk February 1 to bid Mr. Hough farewell. He is going to be the principal at Queen Victoria Public School in Lindsay.

The next day, a special assembly was held at the school for students to say goodbye to Mr. Hough.

"I don't like a lot of attention," Mr. Hough said. "But I don't mind this."

The assembly featured songs and skits, and Mr. Hough, teachers and students exchanged wolf pictures. (The wolf is the school's mascot.)

It was almost like another Christmas for Mr. Hough. He received a lot of gifts.

At the end, time was set aside for personal goodbyes.

Mr. Hough will always be in Ridgewood Public School's heart.

A new principal, Mr. Squires, arrived on Monday, February 5. He was welcomed with a special assembly. He was the principal of Mariposa Public School, which has 560 students. This is his 30th year of teaching.

Mr. Squires said he was very impressed with the sense of humour, yet seriousness in the staff and students. He said he really liked the skit the intermediates performed.

He mentioned that four things are important to him:

- 1 — having fun
- 2 — working hard
- 3 — caring for each other, and

4 — it's okay to make a mistake, but don't make it again.

He says he is very excited about being at Ridgewood.

We hope you have fun at Ridgewood,

Mr. Squires.

WELCOMING COMMITTEE: Yanka Clementi, Kacey Crego and Cameron Purdy welcomed Mr. Squires to his new post as principal of Ridgewood.

The plan is available for public inspection at the Minden Area Office between February 15 and March 15, 1996 during normal office hours. This is the final opportunity for the public to request a "bump up" of the plan, or any part thereof, to individual treatment under the Environmental Assessment Act.

If no "bump up" request is received during the inspection period, the plan will be automatically approved for implementation. However, the plan will remain available for public inspection at the Minden office, throughout its five year term.

Questions or comments regarding the plan may be directed to Peter Hynard in Minden (705-286-1521). All comments received become a matter of public record, unless privacy is requested.

your area. It's going to be interesting... I believe in democracy. I believe that people have a right to elect somebody to speak for them, and to hold them accountable... Even today, I was in the grocery store, and a lady came up to me and said she was very happy with the way everything had been handled, but she had a concern about the course selection. It gave me a chance to hear one more parent's perspective... That works so well in an area like ours. I hate the thought of losing it."

The task force has also recommended an overhaul of the education finance system, after the recommendations of the 1993-1995 Royal Commission on Learning, and has taken the position that the amalgamation and other proposed governance reforms will be impossible without finance reform.

Finance reform is, however, an extremely complex issue politically. Calls for reform have been made for years now, but former governments receiving such recommendations have generally balked at implementing them, due to the complexity and potential political cost of negotiating with different economic and regional interests.

Many commentators have taken the view that the Sweeney report, commissioned by an NDP government and chaired by a former Liberal, is unlikely to be fully implemented by a Progressive-Conservative government, particularly considering its call for finance reform.

Haliburton's position with respect to finance reform is unusual. A rural board, administering a region with high unemployment and limited economic development, the board is nonetheless viewed as 'assessment rich' by Queen's Park, and receives a comparatively small provincial grant. This is due in part to a preponderance of valuable cottage lakefront property — assessments are based on land value — and a significant, older, retired population living on fixed incomes.

The reform for which the task force is calling — addressing the reality that with so much of education funded locally, wide regional inequities exist in the quality of education — might, were it implemented, address this problem.

Ladurantaye says the Haliburton board will probably proceed from here by preparing a report on the potential costs versus savings to be gleaned from the amalgamation, with public consultation, and with talks with Victoria's board.

However, she stressed, a great deal now hinges on how the government receives the report.

"I really don't want to jump the gun," she says.

The original mandate of the task force calls for the new boundaries to be in place for the municipal elections in the fall of 1997.

Women's health

involved in this year's program, they can't expect to be working in the groups much longer. But they might be staying on to do some of the work behind the scenes — such as program development.

They all seem to think the program is worth it.

Says Tomlinson, "It's a great experience, for leadership, to get up there and facilitate a whole workshop."

None of them have ever smoked, though some of the facilitators from the other schools have. That, they laugh, does make it complicated sometimes.

Says Tomlinson, "Some of them look at us say what do you know? You've never smoked."

Women's Institute February meeting

The Minden Women's Institute held their February 14 meeting at the Library/Cultural Centre at 2 p.m. with Jean Cox, President, welcoming four guests. She read some details about Valentines Day.

Mention was made that a "Laura Rose" rose has been developed and will be available at Sheridan Nurseries later this spring.

We will look forward to details and planning, as the Minden Branch hosts the Victoria East District annual meeting in May.

Irene Moore reported sending 17 cards since the last meeting and collections were taken for Pennies and Card Fund. Several readings were given by the two Jeans and Beulah Hewitt.

We also welcomed Reeve Jeanne Anthon.

Nancy Gayton, convener, introduced our special speakers, Don and Cecilia Sharpless. They gave a full and interesting talk on their experiences, providing many facts about raising ostriches at their farm on the Scotch Line. They also answered numerous questions and had some items and magazines for us to see. Betty Herlihey thanked the speakers for an interesting time and made a presentation of a small gift.

Winner of our small draw was Mary Cox.

Volunteer hours will be tallied for the district at the March meeting.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 20 at 2 p.m. in the common room at the Library/Cultural centre.

After adjournment, everyone enjoyed the lunch and a cup of tea or coffee and a chat with our guests and friends.

The purpose of the By-law is to change the zone category on part of Lot 8, Concession 10, in the geographic Township of Laxton, United Townships of Laxton, Digby and Longford from the Industrial Extractive Exception Three (M2-3) Zone to the Industrial Extractive Exception Four (M2-4) Zone. The effect of the By-law is to permit a quarry operation with a maximum annual extraction of 20,000 tonnes where currently only a gravel pit is permitted. The By-law also permits a wood waste disposal site on 2 hectares (5 acres) of land.

The same land is also subject to an application for a Class B quarry licence from the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Looking for a Challenge? Knowledgeable about Fund Raising? Available to make a Volunteer Commitment?

The Haliburton Highlands Health Services Corporation (formerly the Acting Health Service Board for Haliburton County and Area) is preparing for a major capital construction project that includes additions and renovations to the Haliburton Hospital as well as the relocation of the Minden Hospital and extensive renovation to Hyland Crest.

This project requires that one-third of the cost be raised by the community. Over one million dollars is already held in trust for us as a result of a previous fund raising campaign. However, as much as $3.5 million more will be needed to complete the entire project.

A fund-raising strategy must be developed in order to ensure our future health care. A knowledge of marketing and experience in raising corporate and philanthropic donations would be most welcome.

We also expect to form a separate Foundation in the very near future and volunteers will be needed to help direct this organization which will be directly affiliated with the HHHS Board.

Please contact the Health Services Board by telephoning 705-286-4997, or by writing to:

Harp 2 Harp is next in concert series

A program of harp music will be presented at the Haliburton Legion Hall on Sunday, March 3.

Sandra Fann, right, and Sharlene Wallace, both renowned harpists, will present a varied program ranging from Bach, Debussy and Gershwin to Celtic airs as well as a number of original compositions. Both artists have studied with Judy Loman and perform regularly as soloists, as well as with chamber and orchestral ensembles.

The harp is one of the more ancient stringed instruments. Images of it appear on vases dating back 5000 years. Following the performance, there will be a "meet the artist reception".

Tickets are available at the door. For further information, call 286-1218 or 286-3756.

Opens March 1 at Agnes Jamieson Gallery

Second show for Times cartoonist Gil Parcell

by Morris Duff

Gil Parcell, popular editorial page cartoonist here at The Times, is having a three week show at the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery, beginning Friday, March 1. Parcell was asked to do it by Ruth Amos, director of the Jamieson and a fan of Parcell's cartoons. She was "delighted" when he agreed.

Parcell's show, his second at the Jamieson, will be a history of his life in art. In addition to cartoon and paintings, there are examples of the Valentines and other great cards he designed, commercial posters for organizations such as glider flying (he was an enthusiastic glider pilot), covers for magazines, and cartoons from the days when he was drawing strips, for syndication in the U.S. as well as in Canada.

His previous show was in 1992. Many who saw it became enthusiastic fans of his paintings, done with acrylic paint because he is impatient.

Like his cartoons in The Times, all his work has a light, folksy touch. Even though much was drawn in Toronto, it is filled with small town feelings that reverberate in the drawings of the late Canadian cartoonist Jimmy Furse.

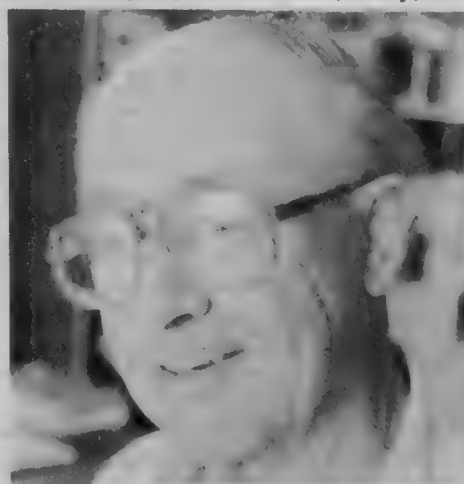

Parcell said much of his art revolves around antique pieces, such as an old out house or a steam train. It's not that he's particularly interested in antiques, but he finds them more interesting as the inspiration for a painting or cartoon than something modern.

"I see an old stove and then I make up a story around it," Parcell explained.

All his art tells a little story. One set of Parcell's cartoon strips features a medical doctor, Dr. Mort. He drew them for Canadian Doctor Magazine. Others, taking a humorous look at boaters (he sailed), were drawn for Canadian Yachting Magazine.

Parcell, 73, and his wife, Mary, moved to Minden

Gil Parcell, Times cartoonist, will be the featured artist at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden starting March 1.

when he retired in 1990. The reason was that his daughter, Jeanne, and son in law, Larry Hughes, live here.

Almost immediately he became semi-retired when he started drawing editorial cartoons for The Times. He replaced a cartoonist who wanted time to pursue his painting and wood carving.

Although partially colour blind, Parcell's art stands out because of the way he uses colour effectively. His attraction to colour is evident in his many paintings of clowns.

Born near Liverpool England, he served throughout World War Two as an aircraft mechanic with the Royal Air Force. His posters for the Air Force reunions are part of the show.

So are the illustrations that he prepared while working for Eaton's after he immigrated to Canada. He began with the commercial art department in 1948.

Although Parcell says that once he's completed a painting or cartoon, he doesn't want to see it again, the walls of his Donald St. bungalow are covered by his work — a total of 24 pieces in the living room, kitchen, bedroom, and bathroom. His wife puts them up.

"Only about three times have people been upset from my cartoons," Parcell said. He seeks "to provide a little levity" rather than the sarcastic humour that many cartoonists seek. That is probably why his work has so many fans.

Around the County Town

by Gord Graham (call 286-6506)

Get out your dancing shoes, dust off those instruments because the producers of the Royal Bank Senior's Jubilee are looking for talented seniors (55+) - singers, dancers, comedians, musicians - to audition for this year's salute to seniors in the performing arts at Roy Thomson Hall in Toronto. The Jubilee, Canada's largest annual seniors' entertainment showcase, (now in its eighth year), is a week-long celebration from August 12 to August 16, 1996.

To arrange for an audition, send your name, age, address, telephone number and a brief description of your act to: Glenda Richards and Wayne Burnett, Richburn Entertainment Inc., 260 Queens Quay West, Suite 2805, Toronto, Ont. M5J 2N3. For more information, call Wayne (416) 962-3819. Deadline is April 30th.

The Minden Legion Seniors Club held their bid euchre fun day last Tuesday and enjoyed a birthday cake between rounds for Jack and Irene. (No last names otherwise they'd have to tell their age). Moonshots went to Helen Lee and high to Norm Lee. Other winners were Jesse Preston, Verna MacDonald and Marie Dennie.

Things are popping in Lochlin. The outreach committee of the Lochlin United Church had a very successful social evening Friday, 16th with games that they played at the Community Centre. On Tuesday 20th, at 7:30 pm, the usual euchre games followed. Kit Schroeter had most lone hands and Ralph Schroeter/Rheta Crofts won the high while May Hicks/ Earl Schellenberg captured the low.

February 27th they meet in Gelert. Everybody is always welcome. Their hearts go out this week to Norma Burk and Weldon McPhail who are on the sick list. Please get well soon.

I have been asked if bridge is available in the evenings. As far as I can determine it is not, leastwise in the winter. If readers know otherwise please let me know.

There is however, excellent contract bridge played at the Stanhope Library every Tuesday afternoon at 1 p.m. where partners are not required. I have a friend who plays there and admits to being challenged. Last Tuesday's winners were Jack Gillette, Moira Gillette and Russ Fair. Join them, test them, Tuesday 27th.

Even though the author takes great pains to spell names correctly, there are mitigating circumstances which prevent verification.

I need your help when calling/writing each week.

Legion 636, Minden euchre scores for Thursday 15th gave most lone hands to Jean Scadden and Bill Menard. High wins went to Verna MacDonald and Gala Stamp while low wins were captured by Orville Francis and Marie Dennie. Prizes were abundant because they still had some for Rhoda Woolner and Tod Edgson. Congratulations!

The Friendship Club (what a nice name) of St. Paul's Church is now 11 strong and they meet every Monday at 1:30 to play euchre and socialize. They hold 50-50 draws of dubious amounts and last Monday's winner was Nell Miscio. Other "winners" were - most lone hands, Verna MacDonald with highs for Betty Hardy and Nancy Gayton (you'd never guess Nancy was high "man"). Low was Iris Taylor. Friends and guests are always welcome.

Political tidbits (usually spoken by famous people):

- politics is too serious a matter to be left to the politicians.
- an empty stomach is not a good political advisor.
- a politician usually never believes what he says, so is surprised when others believe him.

Birthday greetings go out to Gordon Kent and Thomas Brown, both of Hyland Crest. If you care to wish them well, either personally or by way of a card, their birthday is on Tuesday March 5.

Last week, I mentioned how happy Florence Robinson was to see her son Bradley. Florence is now confined to her home and would be most delighted to see or hear from any of her other family or friends.

The Minden and District Horticultural Society's next meeting will be held at the Hyland Crest senior's auditorium on Tuesday, March 5 at 7:30 pm. Guest speaker, Clayton Cameron, will talk about the Minden Park, behind the Museum - a proposed nature walkway and ski trail. Everyone welcome. Refreshments served.

Club 35 euchre results for February 19th had Helen Lee winning the most lone hands with highs going out to Barb Robitaille and Cliff Woolner. Other winners were Verna Sawyer, Harry Randell and Bill Cowen but let's not leave out Chester Saunders. Chester won the 50-50 draw!! Everyone is welcome to join the euchre games every Monday at 7:30 p.m. Partners are never required. (You know, I can't find any information about where they meet - I'll publish it next week!) Next wheels-to-meals dinner is at 12 noon on Tuesday 27th.

Bob Thompson from the Noble Motel calls in every Wednesday night with euchre scores but never gets his name mentioned. Tonight, Bob had the distinction of holding the second high hand. Congratulations Bob! The number one high went to Nancy Drew with most lone hand award to Ted Bergs. Noble Motel in Moore Falls welcomes you 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays. Call 454-8298 if desired.

Also at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays, bid euchre is played at the Stanhope Firehall. Marg McAfee stays up late to call in the scores. Thanks Marg. Last Wednesday, moonshots went to Bill Milford, Edith Burch, Marjorie Cowen and Jamie Chambers. Highs were enjoyed by Jean Scadden, Bill Milford, Edith Burch, Marjorie Cowan, Garth Windsor and Stan Hill. Mrs. Hill, Marion, had the hidden score. Welcome all

We are so happy that Jeanne Sears is able to use some of that time she freed up when she stopped writing this column. Jeanne recently enjoyed a small vacation in Keswick. She went with the Gauthiers who also had relatives there from Perth-Andover, N. B.

Heartfelt sympathy goes out to the family and friends of John Welborn and Verne Graham who passed away suddenly.

Last week, I reminded everyone that I would be all ears to a human interest story. I should add too, that this column would be an excellent vehicle for someone you know that might qualify as "volunteer of the week". Someone who greatly serves our community. In addition to the telephone number shown, I have a direct FAX if that better serves your purpose; 705/286-3460. Thank you.

Personally, I'm always ready to learn, although I do not always like being taught.

The Haliburton County Association for Community Living's Board of Directors, employees and people supported would like to sincerely thank the following for their donations to our 2nd Annual fund Raising Event "DARE TO SKI". Due to the support from people such as yourselves in our community this event was a great success.
